

Strategic advisor, author, and commentator on crisis leadership and global business risk.

BIOGRAPHY

Joseph Soares served in the Prime Minister's Office of Canada during the 2008 financial crisis and as Chief of Staff in the Senate of Canada through the pandemic - two of the highest-pressure rooms in the country, in two of its hardest years. His commentary has been published in Forbes and Newsweek. His first book, Leadership Under Fire: Forged in the Rooms of Power, arrives October 6, 2026. He is trilingual in English, French, and Portuguese and gives interviews in all three. Based in Ottawa-Gatineau, Canada.

THE BOOK - OCTOBER 6, 2026

Leadership Under Fire: Forged in the Rooms of Power - a field manual for the decisions that don't allow a second draft. Review copies and interview requests welcome ahead of launch.

INTERVIEW TOPICS

- Leadership under fire - deciding when the stakes are national
- Crisis leadership & institutional decision-making
- Geopolitical risk & the global economy - how power, capital, and resources move
- The Canada-US corridor: trade, energy, critical minerals (analyst, non-partisan)
- AI as a leadership problem, not a technology one
- Portugal, the Azores & the Lusophone world (available in Portuguese)

PRESS

Bylined & published in: Forbes - Newsweek - Acoriano Oriental

Featured & covered in:

The Globe and Mail - National Post - Maclean's - Huffington Post - Le Devoir - La Presse - Le Soleil

MBA - PMP - Adm.A. - ACC Host, Corridor Intelligence (youtube.com/@corridorintelligence)